Earned Recognition

Being recognised as an exemplary Operator?

This is a voluntary scheme designed to work for operators of all sizes to prove that an organisation meets driver and vehicle standards.

The process involves regular sharing of performance information electronically and in return, vehicles are less likely to be stopped for inspections.
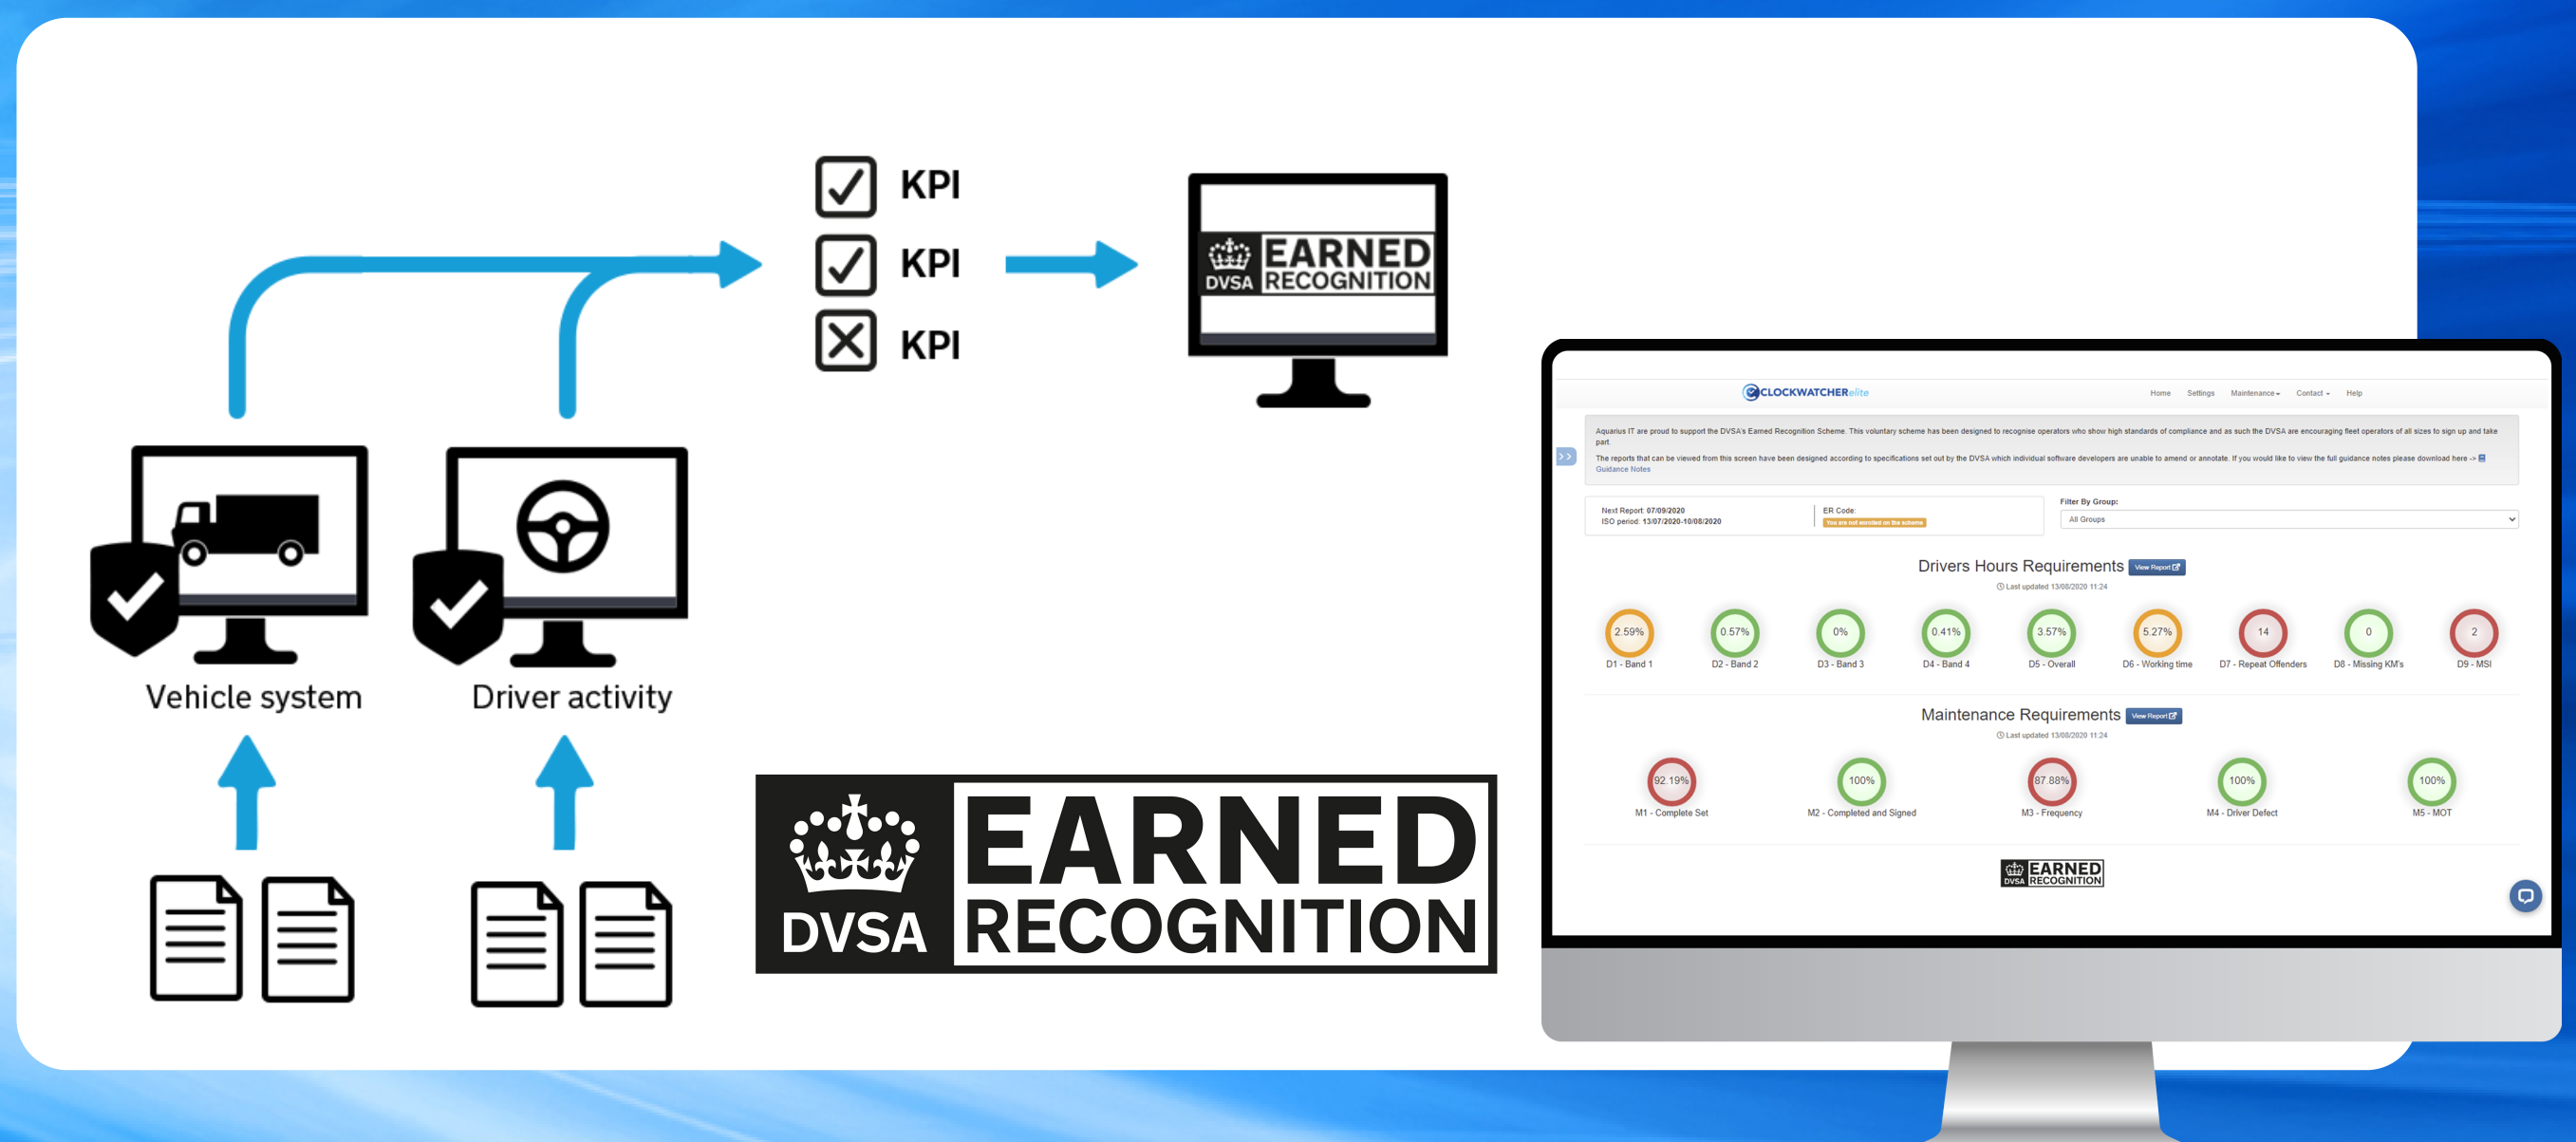

Vehicle operators wanting to join the Earned Recognition scheme require IT systems and software that can report on some important performance measures. Aquarius can provide an encompassing solution for managing and reporting on the driver and vehicle measures required by the DVSA.
